FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Common Thread for the Cure Foundation Appoints My Resource Library's Laura Carlson to Board of Directors

Lexington, NC. Dec. 13, 2024 –The Common Thread for the Cure Foundation has named Laura Carlson, owner and director of the architectural division of My Resource Library, to its board of directors. Beginning her three-year term in October 2024, Carlson brings decades of industry expertise and a deep commitment to giving back to the community, making her a valuable addition to the leadership team.

Carlson is a dynamic force in the contract furniture industry. She is a member of the Leadership team at My Resource Library (MRL), a virtual library that provides access to products, prices, and specifications for professionals in the contract interiors industry. With more than 20 years of experience, her career spans roles at top firms such as TMP Architecture, leadership experiences with a Steelcase dealership, and founding her own rep group, Blue Sky Contract Furniture.

“We are thrilled to welcome Laura to the Board of Directors,” said Rob Mayer, Board Chairman. “With her impressive career in the contract furniture industry and her deep commitment to community advocacy, she is the perfect addition to our team. Her leadership and vision will undoubtedly propel our mission forward as we continue to support those in need and make a meaningful difference in the fight against breast cancer.”

Carlson has a passion for creating meaningful spaces and holds a bachelor's degree in interior design from the University of Cincinnati, College of Design, Architecture, Art and Planning. Known for her laser focus, compassion, and unwavering drive, she is a mother of two daughters who balances her professional life with her love for family, home remodeling, and spending time with her two miniature schnauzers. Laura's personal and professional journey reflects her commitment to excellence and making a difference, both in her industry and through her work with The Common Thread for the Cure.
